

Fall 2016 Asian Film Series
A Cinema of Popular Entertainment presents

NASI LEMAK 2.0

辣死你媽! 2.0

Fall Schedule

Week 2 • October 3

Stand By Me Doraemon

(Japan, 2014)

Week 4 • October 17

Takarazuka: Elisabeth

(Japan, 2014)

Week 6 • October 31

Monster Hunt

(China, 2015)

Week 8 • November 14

Nasi Lemak 2.0

(Malaysia, 2011)

Week 10 • November 28

The Good, The Bad & The Weird

(South Korea, 2008)

Monday, November 14, 7:00pm
Lillis 185
FREE ADMISSION
Screening and Discussion
Refreshments

"A movie about food, directed by and starring a rapper who has been investigated for sedition, that the Malaysian government tried to stop from being made, that delivers the anything-goes fast and furious spirit of Stephen Chow's early movies, that became a massive word of mouth hit, that prompted protests, and that features multiple musical numbers... [T]his is the first movie to appeal to all three of that country's main ethnic groups: Malay, Chinese, and Indian" with "some of the most gloriously stupid jokes ever put onscreen" (Film Society at Lincoln Center)." NASI LEMAK 2.0. In many languages with English subtitles.

Join us for each of our five films this term, each presenting a popular cinema entertainment from Asian cinema, with an educational introduction and discussion. Generously supported by the Asian Studies Program at the University of Oregon.

